

STRUGGLE

{ FOR SAFETY }

{ TO END MASS INCARCERATION }

6:00 PM FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 2014

1199 S.E.I.U., 155 Washington Ave, Albany, NY

Towards Eliminating the Wedge

Part 2: Continuing the Conversation on Prison Justice and Gender-based Violence

LET'S TALK!

Join in the conversation. We began this dialogue on November 21st, 2013. This is part 2, but don't hesitate to join in! This is a dialogue for women, trans, genderqueer, and gender nonconforming individuals (no cis-men, please) about resolving the differences and contradictions between a feminist struggle for safety and the struggle to end mass incarceration.

The focus of the discussion, which has long been a source of difficulty for those organizing to end gender-based violence and the violence of the criminal justice system, will be:

- *solutions that make demands on the system
- *solutions based in our community
- *solutions that both create safety from gender violence and end mass incarceration